Says the Minneapolis Mirror:

"The Minneapolis Mirror continues to incur the displeasure of farmers. Strange isn't it?"

We are glad to note the election of our old commander, Gen. Rosecrans, to Congress from Minnesota.

The Minneapolis Mirror says: "No Presidential candidate ever emerged from a contest with cleaner skirts than Gen. Hancock."

At the late election in Louisiana, the Republican ticket, it is said, were headed by Grant's name. The folks down there are merely getting their hands in—ready for 1884.

The Helen B'ch has laid up for the winter a very successful season. The company propose to put on a passenger boat next season.—Ortonville North Star.

The Republicans carried the State of Tennessee, electing the state ticket and three members of Congress. They also elected several members of congress in other southern states, and have quit "blowing" about a "solid south;" it is all right as long as it is "solid republican."

GARFIELD for President, receives a plurality of the votes cast at the late election, but is a minority President, on the popular vote by nearly 400,000. We were the Greenback candidate for President receives over 300,000 votes.

Secretary of the Treasury Sherman, has entered the field in Ohio, as a candidate for the U. S. Senatorship. As he has been in office for the last 40 years, he don't relish the idea of being relegated to private life; hence his candidacy.

Mrs. Weisner, the woman that killed her husband in LeSueur County last summer, was found "guilty" by the jury last week, and Judge McDonald, sentenced her to the Penitentiary for life. Served her right.

Col. Gabe Brack, formerly the fighting colonel of the 18th Wisconsin, brigaded with our old regiment, the 4th Minnesota, was defeated for re-election to Congress from Wisconsin. He was a good soldier and the members of the "old Fourth" will regret his defeat, by a stay at home "loyal republican."

Of the thirty six jurors drawn for the December term of the United States circuit court seven are from St. Paul and eleven from Minneapolis, one-half of the entire number. The people of the latter town have no reason to complain of undue partiality this time, whether the pine needles suits are tried or not.—Hastings Gazette.

Mr. Boneman, of St. Peter, makes some very serious charges against the managers of the St. Peter Ins. Co. Asylum, in connection with the late fire. There should be a rigid investigation, and if these charges are proven true, there should not only be a change of management, but Dr. Bartlett and his assistants should be severely punished. It was a horrible calamity, and the people of the state demand a thorough investigation.

The New Union Review, and the Hastings Gazette, edited respectively by Maj. Bobleter, and Hon. Irving Todd, are advocating the elevation of the Hon. H. R. Denny of this county, to the speakership by the Legislature, this winter. Mr. Denny, is receiving many complimentary notices from the republican press of the State, but we are fearful that the politicians will combine and encompass Mr. Denny's defeat.

Minnesota Journalism.

The Lyon County News has changed hands, and is to be edited by C. C. Whitney, late of Lawrence, Mass.

E. S. Richards, city editor of the Pioneer Press, has been appointed deputy collector of customs at St. Paul in place of Gen. M. D. Flower, promoted.

DEATH OF FRANK W. MORGAN.

Frank W. Morgan, a Nephew of Judge Sargent, died at the Cottage Hospital in Minneapolis, Thursday evening Nov. 25th where he had been since his serious accident, by the cars, about five weeks ago. His body was taken east on Friday, by his father, A. P. Morgan, to be interred in the family burial ground at Portland, Maine. His many friends here extend their sympathies to his parents and relatives in their sad bereavement.

The winter term of the District Court for Saint County, convenes at Shakopee on Monday. Rings landmen will be brought into court to pay rings deficiency.

Gardner James D. Williams, of Indiana, well known as "Blue Jean Williams," died at Indianapolis on Friday of last week. He has acquired a prominent position in state affairs in Indiana and his death is much regretted.

The Democrats elect one elector in Indiana, and lose one in California. The gain in Indiana is due to the negligence of the Republican managers in failing to place the name of one of the electors upon something like fifteen thousand tickets. The blunder, however, does no good to the Democracy, though it might have changed the result of the entire election.—Globe.

An Old Chaska Boy.

We clip the following item from a recent number of the St. Paul Pioneer Press, relating to an old Chaska boy, a son of Gustave Dr.ssel, who was for 15 years a resident of Chaska, O-car, having been born here.

"Mr. Oscar E. Dr.ssel, a young man who for the past four years has been in employ of Mr. J. A. Wampler, left last week for the town of Hector, where he has purchased a drug store. Mr. Dr.ssel is a gentleman of many excellent qualities, and will be greatly missed in St. Paul, while he will prove a valuable addition to the social circles of his new home.

The trustees have called upon Gov. Pillsbury to investigate the fire at the St. Peter insane asylum. That investigation will develop nothing. It is all in the family.

It is designed to prevent an investigation being peremptorily ordered by the legislature, which might prove troublesome. The loss of books and papers when the fire did not reach the part of the building where they are kept is a matter which no committee appointed by the governor will explain. That corner not having sense enough to investigate, the legislature should take the matter in hand, matter how much whitewash may have been dished out in the meantime. The public should be informed among other things why the patients were kept locked in to be roasted alive. There is a mine of richness if the matter is properly worked.—Globe.

What Our Contemporaries Have to Say.

The Chaska Herald has nineteen years old it was, and the wide-spread publication of the 18th Wisconsin, brigaded with our old regiment, the 4th Minnesota, was defeated for re-election to Congress from Wisconsin. He was a good soldier and the members of the "old Fourth" will regret his defeat, by a stay at home "loyal republican."

The Chaska Valley Herald has just entered on its nineteenth year of continuous publication, the present proprietors, A. L. & F. E. DuToit, having been connected with the paper for the past fifteen years. We wish our Carver county neighbor increasing success. The Valley Herald is a very good local paper, full of home news and items which are sure to interest all who have lived or now live in Carver county. Everyone to whom this description applies should at once become a subscriber.—Peoples Advocate, Howard Lake.

The Valley Herald of Chaska, commenced its 19th year last Thursday, and for 19 years of that time has been under the proprietorship of Messrs. A. L. DuToit & Co. It is a good local paper, Carver County could not do without it, and improvements are in contemplation. Politically, it is "sound on the whole."—Courier, Shakopee.

We copy the above notices from among many, that have recently appeared in our state exchanges of a complimentary nature, and prize them highly coming as they do from three of the very best local papers published in the State. We shall strive to merit the good will of our friends in a greater measure hereafter, should nothing unforeseen happen.

The latest reports from our former townsman, Mr. Herman Gerdsen, now at Bethlehem, Pa., represent him as both "well" and "doing well."

The recent improvements to F. Zorich's house cost $150.—a double floor was laid, and several more rooms gained.

Mr. Gerdsen realized about 130 bushels Beauty of Hebron potatoes, all very nice and large. Has seed for sale, and parties interested can govern themselves accordingly. Of course, this is only one variety of potatoes he put out, and don't represent his whole crop.

The recent shooting affair was terribly "gotten wrong" by all. It was not Ferd. Bielow who shot Mr. H., but Wilhelm B., let this suffice!

On the 18th day of the last month, Mr. Fred Hezel, of Camden Township, did take unto himself Miss Paulina Kowalske in the bonds of holy matrimony. Ceremony by Rev. W. H. Oster. May you live long, be happy, and die contented! Services were held at Moravian Church in Laketown.

The most difficult thing for our Laketown farmers to raise on a farm is a mortgage; it requires the best of culture and the richest of soil.

Mr. Gerdsen's term, marked 32 (freezing point) on morning of 12th ult. It was the coldest morning, i. e., up to that time.

The "Festival of the Reformation," as also, Congregation Festival, was celebrated at Laketown Mor. Church on the 31st ult. Rev. Mr. Sommerman, of Zor, was present, and delivered an address.

Shleighing is pretty good in this locality. A new saloon has been opened on the north side of the track.

Chas. Etzel, has sold his farm and will move to Dakota Territory next spring.

The Catholic Church Fair, commences on Wednesday, the big day however, will be on Thursday. We hope to see it well patronized.

Our elevators are full of wheat, and our merchants are unable to get cars to move the grain. They will have to shut down on buying soon unless they get transportation.

Business is lively in our village, our streets are crowded every day with teams from the country, loaded with wheat or produce. Our stores are all doing a big business. We are the "hoss" town in the county and don't you "forget it."

Our hotels are doing a big business and are crowded every night with travelers.—They justly rank No. 1.

Our stores have the largest stock of goods on hand, ever brought to this town, and the big trade centering in this town justify them in their purchase.

Watertown Items.

The good sleighing has endeavored business in all branches and our thriving little village presents quite a "boom" appearance. The farmers are engaged in drawing their produce to market, and the trade in wheat and pork has been very active.—Our wagon makers are pushed to their utmost capacity to supply the demand for sleds.

We understand that there is to be a new stage line to Delano and will commence to make daily trips during the coming week.

Mr. F. A. Flood paid us one of his characteristic visits and reports general business as good and insurance booming.

Mr. Wm. McCloud, who has been attending school in Minneapolis, is now teaching in Holywood.

Mr. T. F. O'Hair and others from Delano favored us with a call.

WINTER.
BY JOHN HENWOOD.
The dead leaves rustle on the bough,
The weather's getting cold;
The ground is frozen, and the snow
Lowers the fern and fold.
The farmer sits and sighs beside
His cheerful wood-burning fire,
And cherubs on his knee hold ride,
And prattle to their glee.
The little on the crane still swings;
The gold-finch rambles round;
And vireos from the ladder bridge,
As good as any found;
The nightingale is hushed and fed,
The dove is in the nest;
There's wood within the grate and red,
Without the snow and cold.
How goes it, friend, these chilling days?
Are you prepared to meet
The north-wind's blast, the icy glass,
And winter's snow?
Are you prepared to face the wind,
The frost, the snow?
Supplied with food for life and child,
And reasons, too, to wait?
If not, God pity you, my friend!
For charity is cold,
And sympathy no chains will lead,
Unless enforced by gold.
There's charity has open ears,
But seldom found;
That little of the true appears
To those who are around.
God pity you, full well, my friend!
And care for you and yours,
And may be food and shelter,
And winter's snow?
And when the May-day comes again,
With bright sunshine and warm days,
May you get the well of pain,
And live in bright days.
CHASKA, PA.

SALLY WAGGS, OF DANBURY.

By all accounts it was more than a century ago that Miss Sally Waggs so astonished the people of this place that they made the remark then, and were given to frequent repetitions of it afterward, that Sally Waggs would have made a great stir in the world had she been a man. Whether it was in 1779 or a few years earlier is not so certain as that it was just the pumpkin pie of a Thanksgiving dinner had been eaten, and the livery nuts and hard cider were brought from the pantry. It was while all the company was at this dinner that Miss Sally Waggs, a young woman of people that made the grandfather look very stern, and the son go for his gun, and the others, a dozen of them old and young, forget the heaviness that followed their eating.

What Sally Waggs then said, and what she did for an hour or two thereafter, is a story that has been told in the old Scribner mansion on the Littlefield turnpike over the nuts and cider at every Thanksgiving night since, and the freshness and delight of it are always the same. It was to-night, and the faded coat that Sally Waggs wore was held up and reverentially touched, as it has been on a hundred or more anniversaries.

Now the wonder of it all seems to have been that such a dandy as this young Sally Waggs should have turned such a corner in her manner of life of a sudden. For her character, or rather her disposition, like her father's, was to have been, up to the time she was 20 years old, very flat. Moreover, her father, old Timothy Waggs, was of no more account in the community than he is regarded as just the man to dig the graves for the dead, and to touch off the swivel on Kick hill at such occasions. When he was not doing these things, he seemed to make a business of partaking of rum or hard cider, and it is said of him that there never was a time when he did not have this falling, because it appears in the old records of the town that about the time when the capture of Louisburg was celebrated he went so much further than his companions as to make merry with the bottle. This was more serious by far than to be a little merry on any other day, and they sent him to the common jail for three weeks thereafter.

So, by reason of his father's business and position, and perhaps because of his name, Miss Sally Waggs had nothing to commend her to anybody. And yet of the girls in the town, there was none who could make a cow with her, nor sooner find one that had strayed into the woods. This doubtless led Squire Scribner to take her into his family for a help to his wife, and Mrs. Scribner used to say that she was past dispute stupid in her speech and brisk about her work beyond comparison with any dandy sheeborn.

There happened to be at the Thanksgiving dinner at which Sally made the revelation of herself a young gentleman who was regarded as a man of parts, and especially worthy of consideration because his father sent a brigantine to the West Indies from New-Haven once in a while laden with goods, and brought her back filled with sugar and molasses. This young fellow was thought to have addressed more than one missive to Squire Scribner's daughter Jerusha. At all events, he was friendly with the family, and had tried his wit as a joke with Sally and came off sadly worsted, because she said nothing to him, but only looked at him with a vacant stare in her brown eyes.

He did not like being laughed at, for he had vowed, as a jest, as he was coming home from the Thanksgiving sermon, that he would make Sally Waggs say something that would astonish them that day.

"Nineteen happen to a sixpence you fall," said the Squire.

"I'll win that, and more the silver as a token," said young Lathrop.

So he said to Sally, as she brought a pitcher of cider in and put it by the Squire's place:

"Sally, what would you do if you was King George of England?"

She looked at him only, and the others smiled.

"Sally," he continued, perhaps a little irritated, "would you troth yourself to me if I asked you?"

"Not till you won me," she answered, without seeming to be conscious of any sharpness in the reply.

"And how could I win you?" he persevered.

"By fighting ten red coats at once."

"Give me the chance, and I'll do it."

Sally quitted the room for the nuts or some such dessert, and young Lathrop demanded his silver piece of the Squire. But the old gentleman refused it, and they had an argument about the merits of the wager, that was so interesting and made such laughter that they minded not the lapse of time.

It was getting so dark that the forms, but not the faces, were visible, and the Squire was for lighting the candles, when the kitchen door was thrown open.

"Don't you hear them?" said Sally.

Waggs. But as long as he lived Squire Scribner insisted that it was not Sally Waggs who spoke, albeit he could not deny that her body stood in the door way, and that her eyes, even in the

that the firelight frightened, sparkled, and her lips moved.

Young Lathrop he was beyond all power of making out the meaning of it, so surprised was he; and, surprised as he was, he was quick enough to see that there was something about this young woman's look and manner now that forced admiration from him.

"Will you be stupid?" she said:

"What will you do with your pig and pie driving you into a doze, and let them come and prison you and do worse for the women? You may sit still, if so be it's your will, but I'll fight them till they kill me."

She went to the corner of the room, and, leaning upon a chest that stood there, reached up and took down a musket that hung upon the wall.

Amazed at young Lathrop was at this action, it did not escape his notice that the arm that she put up when she reached for that musket was worth more than a moment's notice, not only because of the whiteness, but also because of the graceful swing of it.

From that time young Lathrop went Grandfather Scribner, whose mind went back to the year when the settlers in these parts were ready for surprises, and even went to meeting with their flintlocks for walking-sticks.

"Tell me where are your ears?" Sally answered, not yet dismounting from the table, but, pouring powder from the gun into her hand, and the tremendous charge of shot, she loaded the weapon and then primed it. Then she put the butt upon the table, and bracing herself therewith, leaned over and opened the window.

"Listen, now," she said. "Hear you not the red-coats Britishers firing?" They're coming this way. They'll arson the house to live, the devil take the flammes. Where can be the borough militia?"

The reports of musketry were distinct, and the light that came over the hills showed the track of the invaders. Then it was that Grandfather Scribner seized his gun and the Squire seemed to awaken to the business before them.

"And you, Miss Sally Waggs, going up to young Lathrop?" "Will you stand there like Tom Perkins' lad at school with a dunce's cap on? What will you do? Will you go with us, or will you hide under a petticoat?"

Young Lathrop hesitated not a minute.

"In truth, Sally Waggs, you are a young woman of spirit. You'll not find me wanting."

Just then old Tim Waggs, faint with running and terror, came in, and, spite of his anxiety, his first thought was of his stomach, and he begged for a mug of flip, or cold beer, if they hadn't hot water ready. So they gave him a mighty mug of liquor that he made short do with, and then told them that a handful of British had given the Continental coasters the slip, and were marching up from the coast, shooting, burning and robbing, and sad work of it they were making, too, he added. For their coming was so sudden, and so many of the young men were away with the Continentals, that the few lads who tried to stop them on Ridgfield hill were of no more avail than a breath of wind.

"And they've heard of your cattle and rum, Squire Scribner, and I'll not be two hours later before they are here."

"How many are there, Tim, to the best of your knowledge?" asked the Squire.

"Not more than two dozen nor less than a score, Squire."

"But we are no match. There are only four men, including you, Tim, who are more likely to run than fight," said the Squire.

"Not more than four. I'll venture I'll give the red coats cause to think that there are more than four, or twice four," said Sally Waggs.

"And what would you do, Sally?"

"This is what I would do, and will do. I perceive the darkness coming; that will help us or I mistake. Now, father, go to the great barn and take the three lanterns and light them. Mr. Lathrop, you light the two you will find on the beam back of the kitchen oven, and Squire Scribner, if you have your heart in it, prepare powder and shot, and suffer grandfather to load the guns the while, and put no rabbit shot in the barrels either. I will be back myself in the space of five minutes or thereabouts."

Squire Scribner said long after that it surprised him, as he thought it all over, that he did not shoot the stupid girl was out of her head, instead of implicitly following the commands she gave them.

In five minutes, more or less, the form of a man appeared in the dining-room with a gun in his hand, and so much of a stranger that the bewildered women were in a great state of consternation, and it was not until the man spoke, and spoke with the voice of Sally Waggs, that confidence was restored.

Indeed, the form seemed that of a man, because Miss Sally had upon her head the cocked hat and on her body the regimental coat that Grandfather Scribner had worn in the French war, and she carried a sword, and for the short clothes and stockings, the mystery of the arrangement by which Miss Sally made herself appear from the knees down like a heavy-limbed young fellow was never explained.

"Five men of us," she said, and with no such thought of the picturesque, and no such idea of the dramatic, she lifted through the quick brain of young Lathrop.

"She led them out to the hill that flanks the highway by which the British must come, a matter of a hundred rods from the house. Then she commanded her father to fasten the five lanterns to a long pole, and attach each end of that to a tree, and the moment the command was given, by such violent swinging of the pole, to make, by the confusion of lights, the five lanterns seem as nearly like fifty as the alcohol in his nerves would permit.

Without one word of remonstrance Squire Scribner obeyed her, and got behind a tree, and Grandfather Scribner knelt, the better to steady his muscles, by a rock, while Capt. Sally and young Lathrop stood exposed.

By-and-by the British came along. They were merry with liquor, and Capt. Sally's army could hear their boasts of what would happen in the Squire's house within an hour.

Young Lathrop was for shooting when they were out of range, and Capt. Sally found it necessary to give him a tap on the hip with the butt of her musket that made him wince before he came into discomfiture.

At last they got, half a dozen of them, well abreast of the army in ambush on the hillside.

"Now," whispered Capt. Sally, "when I give the military command, father, see to it that the lanterns quiver like firebrands, and we'll give them a reception from the Squire's farm that some of their mothers and sweethearts will lament."

Then she stepped out into full view, with young Lathrop by her side. She waved her gun with as nearly like the dancing motion which a commander gives his sword on entering actions as the weapon would permit, and then (gave this astounding order:

"Halt the whole universe, by flank into kingdoms—fire!"

The military command astonished the British, but that was nothing to the surprise that followed the volley. Two or three went down, and one staggered near his way to the roadside, and when the others, looking up, saw the multitudinous display of flickering lanterns, they took no second thought as to whether they had better stay and fight or go the other way. They went with all speed, not stopping to see who were left behind.

Now, of all the turning and care that would do all hand in all that struggle of the Revolution, none had better than the three men whose bodies had been the targets of Capt. Sally's army, for Miss Sally Waggs nursed herself self.

By the next day the Continental militia were on hand and had driven these marauders back.

From that time on, Miss Sally Waggs went on a new road. It seemed as if she had awakened that night from a sleep that had lasted since her birth. Her advice was to "brain-batter" the British, and her ambition grew. So great, in fact, that some years afterward she married young Lathrop and his slips and other possessions, and there that one of her descendants have been in high places since.—Denbury (Ct.) Cor. New York Sun.

The Rolling Passion.

It was in 1842—a week-day appointment for a Methodist meeting at Anthony's Creek, Greenbrier county, Va. Brother J— was to preach. The larger game, bear, wolf, and even the deer, were not uncommon thereabouts, and deer were abundant. The preacher had some pulpit ability, and at times was impassioned and eloquent. Though the audience was not very numerous, and seldom smiled. The congregation were mainly rude hunters and their rustic families; and the trusty rifle, the faithful dog, the picturesque hunting-horn, and the "brain-batter" musket, and belt, and gleaming knife, were as sure to put in their appearance at "week-day meetings" as the hunter himself. The place of worship was a double cabin, which had been built with much reference to warship as to the comfort of his own family. This notable man of four-score was quite distinguished for piety and his gifts both in prayer and as a class-leader, but not more so than he had been for his superiority as a hunter. With him the ardor of the passion for the hunt, and the ardor of the hunt, were entirely disabled by the infirmities of age. The writer las, at the same sitting, been entranced at narrations of the hazards of his hunting, and the audience, by his deep, undisturbed, child-like piety.

It was a grand occasion for Brother J—. With a crowded house, and Father P. in the amen corner, and the large number of rifles and guns, which, as usual, were placed conveniently near against the fence of the yard, and outside the wall of the house itself. The opening service gave good promise of a "good meeting." Both Brother J— and Father Perkins were quite demonstrative in their devotions. The congregation, with their subject, argument culminated into poetic imagery, and the pathos and power of unstudied eloquence melted and melted, and the audience, by his deep, undisturbed, child-like piety.

But between the eloquent strains of the impassioned preacher the trained ears of the congregation detected the peculiar yelp of a few-known dogs. The opening service was interrupted by the thunder of the approach of a herd of deer closely pursued by the fleet and faithful dogs. Simultaneously with the climax of the service, the entire congregation, pell-mell, broke for the door.

As the earnest preacher dropped his hands to the ready aid of the church, and the audience, by his deep, undisturbed, child-like piety, and his lips, and holy horror depicted on his face, with bitterness of soul he exclaimed:

"It is no use! It is no use!"

To which the piping voice of the infirm and rheumatic old hunter and class-leader responded, with great earnestness:

"Yes, it is, Brother J—; they'll catch 'em, certain sure."—Editor's Drawer, in Harper's Magazine.

Pittsburgh Iron and Steel.

One-twelfth of all the pig-iron produced in the United States is wrested from the glistering ore by the furnaces of Pittsburgh, and her immense vicinity. In the matter of blast-furnaces, record dates back to 1792, when the primitive structure erected by George Anshutz sent its smoke into the clear air, and the first blast of the blast of fifteen huge furnaces, capable of producing 500,000 tons of pig-metal every year from the ores that come from far and near. And to further prepare this record, the blast-furnace of the city of Pittsburgh, thirty-five rolling-mills, wherein 800 rolling or puddling furnaces are seething like miniature volcanoes, and the great eruption, and whose product is here fashioned into one-quarter of all the rolled iron made in the broad republic.

Ascending into the realm of steel—that perfected, purified form reached through these crucial boilings and meltings and hammerings—Pittsburgh claims, with pardonable pride, sixteen thousand establishments devoted to making all manner of "tool" steel, until lately supplied by the English manufacturers. In this Pittsburgh excels, and makes two-thirds of all the crucible steel produced in this country.—G. P. Mulder, in Harper's Magazine.

Popped.

He stood twirling his hat in his hand in the hallway. It was about time for the morning stars to begin their song together. "Well," and he moved one step nearer the door. "Well," he replied, as she stepped to the door also. "Well, I must be going. I'm late."

"That's right, John, if," and she leaned her head on the door-sill. "If you have—any—condemns—to—ask—ask—them—now." He was measured for a new hat and a pair of kid gloves on that day.

Heroic Treatment.

A Galesman man went to a doctor and was planned that he suffered from loss of appetite and indigestion. The doctor examined his tongue and said:

"You should walk two hours every day."

"Two whole hours! When, then, am I to find time to eat and sleep?"

MAKERS.
BY FENNIE E. OWEN.
The face too oft is but a mask
Which hides the heart below,
And none would guess that 'neath could be Such loneliness and gloom.
A smile may hide a breaking heart
As flowers hide a tomb,
And some face oft makes a heart
Of hidden truth too true to deem.
Is sometimes truth most fair to see
Is sometimes truth too true to deem.
If life is then a masquerade,
"Judge not," was wisely said,
For who appears a fairy nymph
Try prove as you are told.
But wait, for there shall come a time
When masks no more shall hide
One's face and the ones that lay
Close hid by human pride;
But every heart shall be unmasked
Before the judgment throne,
And every secret and vice
And every kindly word and deed
Shall show as plain as day.
Ourselves, too, we shall see
In the light of God's love.

A DINNER THAT WALKED OFF.

BY OLIVE THORNE.
The way it began, Hannah was cross that day. For one thing, she had a Thanksgiving baking to do in an old-fashioned house, where pies and cakes were made by the quantity. Then, while she was out of the kitchen a moment, Margery, in a frolic with puss, had upset the churn with its load of cream all over the snow-white floor. That made plenty of work; but the crowning disaster was to find, when she went to the pantry for the beans she intended to bake, that a bottle of brandy had been tipped over, and the brandy had dripped over them, soaking them so thoroughly that it was not possible to use them.

But the worst was yet to come. On finding the beans ruined, she simply emptied them into the pail which stood at the kitchen door, and washing her hands, set to knead her big pan of puff-pastry bread.

Now the kitchen-door opened into a washbasin, and the ash-pail, with the beans, was directly under it, and the brandy had dripped over them, soaking them so thoroughly that it was not possible to use them.

Nothing to be seen but piles of woolshed, and the ash-pail, with the beans, was directly under it, and the brandy had dripped over them, soaking them so thoroughly that it was not possible to use them.

The beans had not been there long before the turkey came around to be fed, as usual; and one of them, of a prying disposition, noticed the open door, and, probably remembering the good things that came out of the door, quietly hopped over the fence, and into the yard.

Nothing to be seen but piles of woolshed, and the ash-pail, with the beans, was directly under it, and the brandy had dripped over them, soaking them so thoroughly that it was not possible to use them.

Half an hour later, Hannah went out for more wood to replenish her fire, and the turkey, which had been waiting for her, was directly under it, and the brandy had dripped over them, soaking them so thoroughly that it was not possible to use them.

A glance at the fowl, to see that she was not overtaken by her, and another at the ash-pail, which was directly under it, and the brandy had dripped over them, soaking them so thoroughly that it was not possible to use them.

"What a fine lot of work!" exclaimed Hannah, turning the limp turkey over. "The idiot has gone and killed herself entirely with those beans. I'd like to see the turkey that would eat one of those beans!"

"Well, I want a turkey for Thanksgiving, and this one died by accident, and its meat will be as good as though I'd washed it with brandy."

"So uttering and grumbling to herself, after fixing her fire, she attacked the turkey, for, though she was sometimes cross, she was always economical, and she had no question would be asked as to how it came to its end, and its meat will be as good as though I'd washed it with brandy."

In a few minutes, she had the fowls on a heap of straw, and the turkey, which was directly under it, and the brandy had dripped over them, soaking them so thoroughly that it was not possible to use them.

On her part, Kris was a very bright bird. She would come when called by name, and she never failed to be on hand at meal-times, when she would peck at the food, and receive delicate bits from every one.

While her little mistress was studying or sewing, Kris would stand and look at her, turning her head and looking at her, and she never failed to be on hand at meal-times, when she would peck at the food, and receive delicate bits from every one.

"Quit!"

As soon as books and work were put away, Kris was ready for play. In fact, she enjoyed her strange life very much, and grew fat and plump, so that pretty soon the boys began to tease Margery by suggesting that her pet was ready to be let loose on the table.

The only time she seemed to be uncomfortable was when the cheerful kitchen was scrubbed.

No sooner did Hannah appear on the scene with her scrubbing-brush, and go down on her knees to polish the floor, than Kris would hop, by a sort of ladder, which one of the boys had made for her, to a corner of the high mantel over the fireplace, and there she would sit, all humped up and miserable, till the work was done, or until her little mistress came and took her into the sitting-room.

The place where Kris was intended to spend the time of her banishment from the yard was a large chamber over the kitchen, which was kept warm by the kitchen chimney, and where her bed or roost was prepared for her, and where she was shut up every night; but she was so lonely and unhappy, and cried so hard to get out, and Margery was so fond of her for a playmate, that she generally got down before breakfast and did not go back until bedtime, which was at dusk in the turkey family, you know.

Well, the winter passed away and spring came. Kris grew a new set of feathers under her plaid dress, and when the weather became warm, mamma said she must leave off her dress, and go out of doors with the rest. So the first really warm day, Margery took off the red dress, and gave her one.

Kris had not forgotten her cool reception in the winter, so she at first was careful not to go too near the turkey, though they did not object to her now in her feather dress. After a few days she stayed most of the time with them, only coming when called, and generally making a visit to the table for her usual treat.

She had not been out very long when one morning Margery went out to see her, and she was gone. No one had seen her since breakfast. Margery felt very badly, and, after looking all about, came to the sad conclusion that she had strayed away and got lost, for the whole flock wandered far off to feed. But the next morning, at breakfast-time, Kris walked in as usual and began to beg for food. Margery hugged her and fed her, and she ate as though she was starved.

When she had finished her meal she went out again, and about noon her little mistress sought her again, and again she was missing.

This now became the regular thing with Kris. Every morning she was on hand for her breakfast, and, in spite of watching, she would slip away and hide so that no one could find her again.

Poor Margery was almost heart-broken at this tendency to vagrancy in her pet, but Hannah only smiled and said:

"Wait a bit, and you'll see something nice."

But, though Hannah had her suspicions, she was not prepared for what actually occurred one day.

After this strange conduct had been going on for a few weeks, there came a day when Hannah had another scare. She declared that tramps or thieves were up in the woodshed chamber, as the head them and she dared not go up.

While she stood in the woodshed telling Margery in a whisper about it, the child heard a step that she knew.

Kris hopped down on to the top step of the stairs which led to the room overhead. After a moment she hopped to the next, and after her came, one by one, twelve baby turkeys.

Margery screamed with delight, and ran to catch Kris and pet the whole family, while Hannah rushed up stairs in dismay and saw a sight that shocked her more than the fear of tramps.

In that room trunks and things not in use were stored, and a month or more ago Hannah had carried up there a large square "square-basket" with a cover—a basket such as the Occident Indians of New York State make for various household uses of their white asters. This basket was nearly full of the winter supply of woolen stockings, all neatly mended and laid away till fall. In this basket, on these soft stockings, had Madame Kristine made her nest, and hatched out her interesting family.

She must have found the door ajar, and managed to pry off the cover, which was on one side, and here she had hidden all these weeks.

The room was put in order and the door closed, and Kristine was provided with a place in the yard. Every day she wandered off with her babies, but she never started until she had washed the breakfast-table with her whole brood to get her regular morning meal.

At first it was funny to see them run around and pick up crumbs, but as they grew it began to be troublesome to have a flock of turkeys so much at home in the house. So mamma made a new law, that Kristine and her family must be fed at the door.

After that, her life was like that of the other turkeys, only she knew her name and could be called when called, and never failed to run up to Margery whenever she saw her.

And the dinner that walked away last year supplied twelve dinners this year, and provided Margery with a fine lot of pocket-money for her pains.

The English Lakes.

The beautiful scenery of Great Britain has been so largely evolved out of the inner consciousness of poets and painters, that it would be an interesting experiment to take an imaginative American on a tour of the English lakes under an impression that he was traveling in Wales. The American, in coming among the mountain and lake scenery of his own country might pronounce the Welsh scenery more grand than that of the English lakes; that is, supposing he could see the two as so much combination of land and water; but that he cannot do. He must see these English lakes as exalted and spiritualized in a poetic mirage. Never again can one look upon mere Rydal Water; he must see therein the reflected vault of Wordsworth's pure reason. Nevermore will the English lakes be what they were, but save with the rhythm of Southey. East winds will not bite so keen as we pass through the woodland where Felicia Hemans found repose, and the pelting storm of a week will have left some sunshine through when one is wandering after the zigzag track of cheery Christopher North.

The scenery is all picturesque, and sometimes sublime. But its chief charm of decoration is that which the poets have given it. One finds not here the quaint white towers laced from the steep hills of France, or the graceful chalets which give an air of culture to the Italian lakes. Art has done nothing for the English lakes, and I am sorry to say, religion has done nothing worse, in surrounding some of them with remarkably ugly churches—the ugliest, perhaps, being that at Ambleside, which Harriet Martineau, the venerable of broadcloth, silk and velvet, have in some way been robbing them. As a matter of fact the palace-builders are the friends of labor. The best form of charity is extravagance. When you give a man money, when you toss him a coin, although you get nothing, the man loses his manhood. To help others to help themselves is the only real charity. Whenever I see a splendid home, a palace, a magnificent pile, I think of the thousands who were fed, of the women and children clothed, of the firesides made happy.

A rich man, living up to his privileges, having the best house, the best furniture, the best horses, the finest grounds, the most beautiful flowers, the best clothes, the best food, the best pictures, and all the books that he can afford, is a perpetual blessing. The prodigality of the rich is the providence of the poor. The extravagance of wealth makes it possible for the poor to save. The rich man who lives according to his means, who is extravagant in the best and highest sense, is not the enemy of labor. The miser who lives in a hovel, wears rags and hoards his gold, is a perpetual curse. He is like one who dams a river at its source.

The moment hard times come the cry of economy is raised. The press, the platform and the pulpit unite in recommending economy to the rich. In consequence of this, the man of wealth discharges servants, sells his horses, allows his carriage to become a hen-roost, and, after taking employment and food from as many as he can, congratulates himself that he has done his part toward restoring prosperity to the country.

It will cost the cotton planters about $10,000,000 to market their crop this year, of which $25,000,000 will go into the pockets of colored laborers, many of whom are women and children.

FACTS FOR THE CURIOUS.
THE WORD "STAVATIONS."—Strange as it may appear, says the London Notes and Queries, it is nevertheless quite true that this word, now unhappily so common on every tongue, as representing the condition of so many of the sons and daughters of the sister lands of Great Britain and Ireland, is not found in our own English dictionary; neither in Todd's Johnson, published in 1826, nor in Richardson's, published ten years later—nor in Stuart-Walker's, remodeled—published about the same time as Richardson's. It is Webster who has the credit of importing it from his country into this; and in a supplement issued a few years ago Mr. Stuart adopted it as "a trivial word, but in very common, and at present, good use."

HAIR GROWING AFTER DEATH.—Wulzenus, in "Philosophical Collections," gives an account of a woman, buried at Haverly, whose grave being opened forty-three years after her death, there was hair found issuing forth plentifully through the clefts of her coffin; inasmuch as there was reason to imagine the coffin had some time been covered all over with hair. The cover being removed, the whole corpse appeared in its perfect shape, but from the crown of the head to the sole of the foot covered with a thick-set hair, long and curled. The sexton going to handle the upper part of the head with his fingers, the whole structure fell at once, leaving nothing in his hand but a handful of hair; there was neither skull nor any other bone left, yet the hair was solid and strong enough. Mr. Arnold, in the work, gives a relation of a man, hanged for theft, who, in a little time, while yet hung from the gibbet, had his body strangely covered over with hair. After numerous experiments on the boiling points of substances under low pressure, came to the conclusion that it would be possible to boil water at temperatures far above the ordinary melting point. He says: "After several unsuccessful attempts, I was so fortunate as to obtain the most perfect success. The water, when subjected to temperatures so high that it was impossible to touch it without burning one's self. This result has been obtained many times, and with the greatest ease; and not only so, but on one occasion a small quantity of water was frozen in a glass vessel which was so hot that it could not be touched by the hand without burning it. The water, when subjected to temperatures far above the ordinary boiling point, and even then it only sublimed away without any previous melting. These results were obtained by maintaining the superheated pressure below 46mm. of mercury—i. e., the tension of aqueous vapor at the freezing point of water. Other substances also were subjected to these same phenomena, the most notable of which is mercuric chloride, for which latter the pressure need only be reduced to 42mm. On letting in the pressure, the water, which was in the vessel, immediately melted. A man somewhat unfamiliar with acoustics who wanted to experiment with his own voice proceeded to the vicinity of a large rock. He spoke, but no returning voice came. He spoke loud with no better success. At length, after straining his vocal organs to their utmost pitch, he left the place and consulted a man versed in physical science. "You stood too near the rock, my friend," said the naturalist. "Go back and stand at least 100 feet away from it, and you will hear the echo." This is explained as follows: Reckoning one-fifth of a second as the time of traversing one syllable, the space traversed by a sound in this time is about 200 feet. Consequently a man speaking at least half this distance before it can send back a single syllable, for the sound must travel to the reflecting body and then return. Supposing five syllables to be pronounced in a second, and taking the velocity of sound at 1,100 feet per second, a distance of 550 feet from the speaker to the reflecting body would enable the speaker to complete the fifth syllable before the return of the first. This is at the rate of 110 feet per syllable. At distances of less than 100 feet there is not time for the distinct reflection of a single syllable, but the reflected sound mingles with the voice of the speaker. This is particularly observable under vaulted roofs.

BOREAS WARS IN A STREET OF PAPER.—Nature is publishing a series of attractive articles on "Physics Without Apparatus." In the latest number are given experiments for boiling water and melting lead on a piece of paper. "Take England." The traveler finds here beautiful nature unadorned but not inanimate; through reverent genius a subtle life-giving breath has gone abroad, and invested hill, dale and lake with mystical groves and grottoes and fountains, beside which even the enchanted valley of Triest is somewhat theatrical.—M. D. Conway, in Harper's Magazine.

The Charity of Extravagance.

Whenever the laboring men are out of employment they begin to hate the rich. They feel that the dwellers in palaces, the riders in carriages, the wearers of broadcloth, silk and velvet, have in some way been robbing them. As a matter of fact the palace-builders are the friends of labor. The best form of charity is extravagance. When you give a man money, when you toss him a coin, although you get nothing, the man loses his manhood. To help others to help themselves is the only real charity. Whenever I see a splendid home, a palace, a magnificent pile, I think of the thousands who were fed, of the women and children clothed, of the firesides made happy.

A rich man, living up to his privileges, having the best house, the best furniture, the best horses, the finest grounds, the most beautiful flowers, the best clothes, the best food, the best pictures, and all the books that he can afford, is a perpetual blessing. The prodigality of the rich is the providence of the poor. The extravagance of wealth makes it possible for the poor to save. The rich man who lives according to his means, who is extravagant in the best and highest sense, is not the enemy of labor. The miser who lives in a hovel, wears rags and hoards his gold, is a perpetual curse. He is like one who dams a river at its source.

The moment hard times come the cry of economy is raised. The press, the platform and the pulpit unite in recommending economy to the rich. In consequence of this, the man of wealth discharges servants, sells his horses, allows his carriage to become a hen-roost, and, after taking employment and food from as many as he can, congratulates himself that he has done his part toward restoring prosperity to the country.

Arctic Stories.
Lieut. Schwatka's party of Arctic explorers tell some strange stories—among them the discovery of an old lady on the north shore of Hudson's strait (as her pay for a pair of fur stockings), for some "keengtevvew-zhak," "Nobody told me that the wind told me made motions as of dealing and shuffling, when it flashed upon the savans that it was playing cards that the venerable because the fact of the wind told me the mosquitoes flourishing on that ground shore are also something marvelous. Their bite is poisonous and their thirst for human blood ravenous. They are not to be scared away, and can only be wiped off. The natives resort to "amudgo" or smoldering fires to keep them away, and mosquito-net hoods are the essential part of the outfit of the fur-clad hunters.

She Would See About It.

Miss Patey said, when a Chicago clergyman, in a crowded ceremony, asked her if she would love, honor and obey her husband: "I will love and honor him, but whether I will obey him depends on circumstance."

Tron's Ahead.

It seems that the "Cut Off" of the Hastings and Dakota Railroad, runs through the Grave Yard, near St. Huberts Church in Chumbliss. The right of way has not been secured, and we understand, cannot be without considerable trouble. The trustees of the church were in town on Monday looking after the matter.

We understand however that the Chief Engineer of the road, Mr. Rogers, claims to have effected a settlement with Bishop Grace, for the right of way.

Bob Sleighs and Cutters.

P. H. Finnegan, has just received a lot of Michigan Bob Sleighs, and also a number of "Single and Double Cutters," which he is selling at very low prices, and respectfully invites an inspection of the same at either Chaska or Norwood.

Holiday Gifts.

Joseph Deising, was presented by his estimable wife, with a handsome boy, as a "holiday gift," last Monday morning.

Joe, was naturally feeling good over his gift, and duly remembered the HERALD office, with a liberal supply of Havanos.

Frank Waldo, was also similarly remembered by his wife, who also presented him on the same morning, with a young son.

We congratulate both of our young friends on their good luck.

A splendid assortment of buggy and team whips at M. Hamms, Chaska, which he sells cheap.

Scarcity of Fuel.

Notwithstanding we live in the timber, wood has been a very scarce article in our market the past month, although $4.00 and $4.25 per cord was freely offered for maple wood, still the receipts are sufficient to prevent suffering.

Farmers tell us the roads are so rough that it takes a good wagon to stand the hauling of a cord of wood into town from a distance, which accounts for the scarcity of fuel.

F. W. Henning & Bro.

This well known firm have built up an immense trade and an enviable reputation by square dealing within the last few years, and they now do as large business as any retail house in the country. Their motto is "quick sales and small profits," which is the secret of their success. Read their advertisement and then call on them.

Cattle Fair.

The Monthly Cattle Fair, last Saturday was fully as well attended as the previous one and our little city was crowded with teams and people from the country, from morning until late in the evening. It is estimated that over 125 head of stock changed hands during the day. Milch cows, as usual, commanded big price, from $25 to $35 per head. Eighteen buyers were in attendance.

Jumped the Track.

The regular passenger train on the H. & D. Road, jumped the track on the Scott County side of the river, near Nyen's brewery, on Monday night, dethroning the passenger coach and two cars, nobody hurt, however. It was occasioned by a broken rail.

Go to M. Hamms, if you want anything in the Harness line, he will sell you cheap. Give him a call.

PERSONAL - Wm. Patterson of Camden, called in to see us last Saturday.

Henry Kuntz, one of the "solid" farmers of Watertown, called in to see how the HERALD establishment was prospering, last Saturday.

Ernst Neumann, of Benton, called in to "renew" last Saturday and we enjoyed a good chat with him.

George Fischer Sr., one of the "old settlers" of Waconia, spent half an hour with us last day.

Conrad Pfaffinger, of Benton, and Christ Thamm, of Dah green, called on us last week, while in town on business.

Marytown Road.

Our leading business men are again talking about building a winter road to Marytown, Scott County, opposite the river from Chaska, distance six miles. A large delegation of citizens from that village were in town last Saturday and stated that they would haul their grain to this market and do their trading with us if we would provide the thoroughfare. Now is the time to move in the premises.

Our correspondents from Watertown and Waconia, will contribute items regularly, commencing next week. We will also try and get regular contributors from Norwood and Benton.

Call at Linenfelter & Faber for fresh groceries.

Chaska Social Club.

The 2nd social dance of the club will be held in Concordia Hall on Thursday December 9th 1880.

Invitations are in the hands of the committee. At the last meeting of the club, the By-laws were signed, and committee appointed to put on an entertainment, consisting of Drama, Farce, Tableaux and music, to come off about the 15th of January 1881.

Holiday Presents.

Those who wish to present to their friends something unique and recherche, (those two words don't cost anything extra) should call upon Lucien Dison who can supply everybody with articles of jewelry sure to meet the approval of all.

He has just purchased an immense stock of watches, clocks, rings and jewelry of every description. Call and see the stock and you will be sure to find something that you want.

PAINTFUL ACCIDENT.

We are informed that Rev. Mr. Sundermann, Pastor of Zion Lutheran Church, Laketown, met with a very painful accident last Friday, necessitating the call of Dr. Hass. It seems that he slipped, spraining the ankle of his left leg very badly and will probably be confined to the house for some time to come.

SAYS THE MINNEAPOLIS MIRROR: "The Millers Association continues to incur the displeasure of farmers. Strange isn't it?"

We are glad to note the election of our old commander, Gen. Rosecrans, to Congress from California.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MIRROR, says: "No
President I could ever emerge from a contest with cleaner skirts than Gen. H. A. Cook."

At the late election in Louisiana, the Republican ticket, it is said, were headed with Grant's name. The folks down there are merely getting their hands in—ready for 1884.

THE HEN B'CH has laid up for the winter
after a very successful season. The company propose to put on a passenger boat
next season.—Orionville North Star.

The Republicans carried the State of Tennessee, electing the state ticket and three members of Congress. They also elect several members of Congress in other southern states, and have quite "blowing"
about a "solid south," its all right as long as it is "solid republican."

GARFIELD for President, receives a small plurality of the votes cast at the late election,
but is a minority President, on the popular vote by nearly 400,000. We verily the Greenback candidate for President receive over 300,000 votes.

Secretary of the Treasury Sherman, has entered the field in Ohio, as a candidate for the U. S. senate. As he has been in office for the last 40 years, he don't relish
the idea of being relegated to private life;
hence his candidcy.

Mrs. Weisler, the woman that killed
her husband in Le Sueur County last summer, was found "guilty" by the jury last week, and Judge McDonald, sentenced her to the Penitentiary for life. Served her right.

Col. Gabe Bouck, formerly the fighting
colonel of the 10th Wisconsin, brigaded
with our old regiment, the 4th Minnesota,
was defeated for re-election to Congress from Wisconsin. He was good soldier and the members of the "old Fourth" will regret his defeat, by a majority at home. Loyal republican.

Of the thirty six jurors drawn for the December term of the United States circuit court seven are from St. Paul and eleven from Minneapolis, one-half of the entire number. The people of the latter town have no reason to complain of undue partiality
this time, where the pine lard suits
are tried or not.—Hastings Gazette.

MR. BORNEMAN, of St. Peter, makes some very serious charges against the managers of the St. Peter Ins. Co. Asylum, in connection with the late fire. There should be a rigid investigation, and if these charges are proven true, there should not only be a change of management, but Dr. B. and his assistants should be severely punished.
It was a horrible calamity, and the people of the state demand a thorough investigation.

THE NEW ULM REVIEW, and the HASTINGS
GAZETTE, edited respectively by Maj.
Boblett, and Hon. Irving Todd, are advancing the elevation of the Hon. H. R.
Denny of this county, to the speakership
by the Legislature, this winter. Mr. Denny, is receiving many complimentary notices from the republican press of the State, but we are fearful that the politicians will combine and encompass Mr. D. defeat.

MINNESOTA JOURNALISM.
The Lyon County News has changed hands, and is to be edited by C. C. Whitney, late of Lawrence, Mass.

E. S. Richards, city editor of the PIONEER
Press, has been appointed deputy collector of customs at St. Paul in place of Gen. M. D. Flower, promoted.

DEATH OF FRANK W. MORGAN.
Frank W. Morgan, a nephew of Judge Sargent, died at the Cottage Hospital in Minneapolis, Thursday evening Nov. 25th
where he had been since his serious accident, by the cars, about five weeks ago.
His body was taken east on Friday, by his father, A. P. Morgan, to be interred in the family burial ground at Portland Maine.
His many friends here extend their sympathies to his parents and relatives in their sad bereavement.

The winter term of the District Court for Scott County, convenes at Shakopee next Monday. Rings boulsmen will be brought into court to pay rings delinquency.

Governor James D. Williams, of Indiana, well known as "Blue Jean Williams," died at Indianapolis on Friday of last week. He has occupied a prominent position in state affairs in Indiana and his death is much regretted.

The Dem crats elect one elector in Indiana, and lose one in California. The game in Indiana is due to the negligence of the Republican managers in failing to place the name of one of the electors upon something like fifteen thousand tickets.
The blunder, however, does no good to the Democracy, though it might have changed
the result of the entire election.—Globe.

An Old Chaska Boy.
We clip the following item from a recent number of the St. Paul PIONEER PRESS, relating to an old Chaska boy, a son of Gustave Drossel, who was for 15 years a resident of Chaska, Oscar, having been born here.

"Mr. Oscar E. Drossel, a young man who for the past four years has been in employ of Mr. J. A. Wampler, left last week for the town of Hector, where he has purchased a drug store. Mr. Drossel is a gentleman of very excellent qualities, and will be greatly missed in St. Paul, while he will prove a valuable addition to the social circles of his new home.

The trustees have called upon Gov.
Pillsbury to investigate the fire at the St.
Peter insane asylum. That investigation will develop nothing. It is all in the family. It is designed to prevent an investigation being peremptorily ordered by the legislature, which might prove troublesome. The loss of books and papers, when the fire did not reach the part of the building where they are kept is a matter which no committee appointed by the governor will explain. That corner not having sense enough to investigate, the legislature should take the matter in hand, instead of such whitewash may have been done in the meantime. The public should be informed among other things
why the patients were kept locked in to be roasted alive. There is a mine of richness if the matter is properly worked.—

What Our Contemporaries Have to Say.
The Chaska Herald was nineteen years old at week, and the wide awake publishers, DuToit Bros, have stood at the helm for fifteen of years. The publishers' ink of enl giring the Herald and otherwise improving it, though they now make it an interesting local paper.—Alcote, Jordan.

The Chaska Valley Herald has just entered on its nineteenth year of continuous publication, the present proprietors, A. L.
& F. E. DuToit, having been connected with the paper for the past fifteen years. We wish our career county neighbor increasing success. The Valley Herald is a very good local paper, full of home news and items which are sure to interest all who have lived or now live in Carver county. Everyone to whom this description applies should at once become a subscriber.—Peoples Advocate, Howard Lake.

The Valley Herald of Chaska, commenced
editio 19th year, 1st Thursday, and for 15 years of that time it has been under the proprietorship of Messrs. A. L. DuToit & Co.
It is a good local paper, Carver county could do without it, and improvements are in contemplation. Politically, it is "sound on the goose."—Courier, Shakopee.

We copy the above notices from among many, that have recently appeared in our state exchanges of complimentary nature,
and prize them highly coming as they do
from three of the very best local papers published in the State. We shall strive to merit the good will of our friends in a greater measure hereafter, should nothing unforeseen happen.

The most difficult thing for our Laketown farmers to raise on a farm is a mortgage; it requires the best of culture and the richest of soil.

Norwood Items.
Sleighing is pretty good in this locality.

A new saloon has been opened on the north side of the track.

Chas. Eitz, has sold his farm and will move to Dakota Territory next spring.

The Catholic Church Fair, commences on Wednesday, the 16th day however, will be on Thursday. We hope to see it well patronized.

Our elevators are full of wheat, and our merchants are unable to get cars to move the grain. They will have to shut down on laying soon unless they get transportation.

Business is lively in our village, our streets are crowded every day with teams from the country, loaded with wheat or produce. Our stores are all doing a big business. We are the "boss" town in the county and don't you "forget it."

Our hotels are doing a big business and are crowded every night with travelers.—
They justly rank No. 1.

Our stores have the largest stock of goods on hand, ever brought to this town,
and the big trade centering in this town
justify them in their purchase.

Watertown Items.
The good sleighing has enlisted business in all branches and our thriving little village presents quite a "cut-throat" appearance. The farmers are engaged in drawing their produce to market, and the trade
in wheat and pork has been very active.— Our wagon makers are pushed to their utmost capacity to supply the demand for sleds.

We understand that there is to be a new stage line to Dulano and will commence to make daily trips during the coming week.

Mr. F. A. Flood paid us one of his characteristic visits and reports general business as good and insurance booming.

Mr. Wm. McCloud, who has been attending school in Minneapolis, is now teaching in Holywood.

Mr. T. F. O'Hair and others from Del-

There is no other remedy known that even claims to do what this salve actually does and that without ever failing. If you remedies, do not fail by any means to use Ulcerine Salve for it will surely cure you

Here and There.

The weather is milder.

And her light fall of snow.

News-paper business is improving.

The "Holidays" are approaching.

The 99 cent store, is all the talk now.

M. H. Mayers is out collecting for the

H. S. L.

If you are in need of a horse blanket,

you can get them cheap at H. H. M.

Geo. A. DuToit, has been under the weather, for a number of days.

Last week we had 18 new subscribers

to our list and 'till we want 200 more.

Wagon, sleds, and rocking horses, at the 99 cent store, cheaper than ever.

If you want a good single or double harness, go to M. Hammers shop, Chaska.

Now is the time to publish your "H."

day advertisements in the columns of the HERALD.

We are still in want of a few cords of wood on subscription. It don't roll in as fast as we expected.

A number of our citizens are attending the Catholic Church Fair, at Norwood, today.

Look at those Imported Accordions at the 99 cent store.

Mr. Wm. Ochs, has just finished repainting his saloon, and it now presents a very neat appearance.

Mr. Geo. Kronschnabel, father of Cas-per Kronschnabel, Benton, who has been very sick for some time past, is slowly recovering.

The largest assortment of decorated cups and saucers, vases and toilet sets in the County at the Chaska 99 cent store.

Messrs. Gregg & Griswood are burning a kiln of brick containing 500 thousand brick instead of 50 thousand, as the types made us say last week, quite a little difference.

We sell the celebrated Waterbury Watch for only $5.00, warranted by the Company to be good time keepers at the Chaska 99 cent store.

Pork is coming into our market at a lively rate, and brings $5.15 per hundred, St. Paul and Minneapolis prices. All of our merchants are buying some for packers and the others for the pinneries.

The Scott County side of the river opposite Chaska as far as Marytown, was well represented in Chaska last Saturday.

We counted ten "solid" farmers from that locality on our streets during the day.

The farmers residing in the vicinity of St. Clouds, Hennepin County were in town en masse last Saturday. They are all well to do farmers and left lots of cash
in town that day.

Mr. Grates, has been compelled to suspend work on the Carver Bridge, on account of the extreme cold weather. This road causes much inconvenience to travel,
as it is almost impossible to get up and down the hill with a heavy load.

OYSTERS! OYSTERS!

I keep constantly on hand for sale, the celebrated "Golden Seal" brand of Fresh Oysters, by the can. Call at the Minneapolis and St. Louis Hotel, Jacob Menkins, Propr.

Papa! I want a wax doll, a set of dishes and a table for Christmas. You can get them all for 99 cents, at the 99 cent store in Chaska.

MARRIED.

At Waconia Catholic Church, on the 16th inst. 10 a. m., Mr. John Segenaker, of Waconia, to Mary Karls.

"Seri in columbia redactis!"

R.

A fine lot of trunks and satchels at M.
Hammers.

Holiday Goods.

Gottlieb Eder, has filled his Bazar full of holiday goods, just as large and varied
a stock as can be found in Minneapolis,
which he is selling at Minneapolis prices.
Call and see.

All kinds of Sewing Machine needles at the 99 cent store.

Trouble Ahead.

It seems that the "Cut Off" of the Hartings and Dakota Railroad, runs through the Grave Yard, near St. Huberts Church in Chanhassen. The right of way has not been secured, and we understand,
cannot be without considerable trouble.
The trustees of the church were in town
on Monday looking after the matter.

We understand however that the Chief Engineer of the road, Mr. Rogers, claims to have effected a settlement with Bishop Grace, for the right of way.

Bob Sleights and Cutters.

P. H. Finnegan, has just received a lot of Michigan Bob Sleights, and also a number of "Single and Double Cutters," which he is selling at very low prices, and respectfully invites an inspection of the same at either Chaska or Norwood.

3w.

Please Take Notice.

The friends and patrons of the English Service Association, are requested to meet at the Marytown Church on Friday evening, Dec. 3d at 7:30 o'clock P. M., to consider the propriety of holding some kind of an entertainment for the benefit of the society.

Chaska, Nov. 29, 1880.

G. KRAYENBUHL, Secy.

Holiday Gifts.

Joseph DeLing, was presented by his estimable wife, with a handsome boy, as a "holiday gift," last Monday morning.

Joe, was naturally feeling good over his gift, and duly remembered the HERALD office, with a liberal supply of Havana's.

Frank Waldo, was also similarly remembered by his wife, who also presented him
on the same morning, with a young son.
We congratulate both of our young friends
on their good luck.

Clocks and watches of all description for sale by L. Dison, Chaska.

Mrs. H. Young.

Mrs. Henry Young, has just received a large assortment of dry goods, notions,
fancy groceries &c., which she is selling at reduced rates. Call and see.

A splendid assortment of buggy
and team whips at M. Hammers, Chaska, which he sells cheap.

Society of Fuel.

Notwithstanding we live in the timber,
wood has been a very scarce article in our market the past month, although $4.00
and $4.25 per cord was freely offered for maple wood, still the receipts are sufficient to prevent suffering.

Farmers tell us the roads are so rough that it takes a good wagon to stand the hauling of a cord of wood into town from a distance, which accounts for the scarcity of fuel.

F. W. Henning & Bro.

This well known firm have built up an immense trade and an enviable reputation
by square dealing within the last few years, and they now do a large business as any retail house in the country. Their motto is "quick sales and small profits," which is the secret of their success. Read their advertisement and then call on them

Cattle Fair.

The Monthly Cattle Fair, last Saturday
was fully as well attended as the previous one and our little city was crowded with teams and people from the country, from morning until late in the evening. It is estimated that over 125 head of stock changed hands during the day. Milch cows, as usual, commanded big price, from $25 to $35 per head. Eighteen buyers were in attendance.

Birds and Lap Robes, cheap at Hammers Harness store.

Big Day For Wheat.

Last Saturday was a big day for our grain dealers, and they were kept busy all day weighing and storing wheat.

The following are the receipts by our different dealers, on that day, in bushels.

Wm. Segar and Son 1936.

F. Henning and Bro 1530.

Linenfelter and Faber 1220.

P. Bierline and Co 1540.

Total 6226.

Jumped the Track.

The regular passenger train on the H.
& D. Road, jumped the track on the Scott County side of the river, near Ny en's brewery, on Monday night, dashing the passenger coach and two cars, nobody hurt, however. It was occasioned by a broken rail.

Go to M. Hammers, if you want anything in the Harness line, he will sell you cheap. Give him a call.

PERSONAL - Wm. Patterson of Camden, called in to see us last Saturday.

Henry Kuntz, one of the "solid" farmers of Watertown, called in to see how the HERALD establishment was prospering,
last Saturday.

John Adelsberger Jr., of Watertown called in to bring us the names of two new subscribers last Saturday. John has rented his fathers farm and will run it hereafter.

Ernest Neumann, of Benton, called in to "renew" last Saturday and we enjoyed a good chat with him.

George Fischer Sr., one of the "old settlers" of Waconia, spent half an hour
with us fair day.

Conrad Pfleger, of Benton, and Christ
Thamrt, of Dah green, called on us last week, while in town on business.

Marytown Road.

Our leading business men are again talking about building a winter road to Marytown, Scott County, opposite the river from Chaska, distance six miles. A large delegation of citizens from that village were in town last Saturday and stated that they would hand their grain to this market and do their trading with us if we would provide the thoroughfare. Now is the time to move in the premises.

Chaska Social Club.

The 2nd social dance of the club will be held in Concordia Hall on Thursday December 9th 1880.

Invitations are in the hands of the committee. At the last meeting of the club,
the By-laws were signed, and committee appointed to put on an entertainment, consisting of Drama, Farce, Tableaux and music, to come off about the 15th of January 1881.

Furniture! Furniture!

For a splendid chamber or parlor set suitable for a Holiday present, call at Burkhard Bros., Chaska.

They also have a fine assortment of fancy furniture, parlor ornaments &c., which they are offering to the public at reduced prices, call and see.

Real Estate Purchase.

Christian Kronschnabel, of Chanhassen, purchased the house and lot recently occupied and owned by Martin Ruchel, in this village. Mr. K. paid $450 for the property. He will put the building in good repair in the spring, and move into it with his family, and become a prominent resident of Chaska. Welcome.

Our correspondents from Watertown
and Waconia, will contribute items regularly, commencing next week. We will also try and get regular contributors from Norwood and Benton.

mann, Pastor of Z. M. M. M. Church, Lakewood, met with a very painful accident last Friday, necessitating the call of Dr. Hass. It seems that he slipped, spraining the ankle of his left leg very badly
and will probably be confined to the house
for some time to come.

The Merchants Hotel of this city kept by "mine host" J. P. Dilly is bound to have everything that is neat and useful, as is shown by the recent addition of a most beautiful washstand and an elegant register.

Vases, Toilet Sets, Watchcases and Accordions, are having a race at the 99 cent store.

Charles Schlatke recently in the brick business in this city, is the loser of $1000 by the failure of a Mankato mercantile firm. Both him and Mr. Mehofer suffer by helping others.

STICK HANDSOME, a large and complete stock at the 99 cent store. Don't forget the place when you want one.

The Town of Chaska and the Railroad Company.

In the case of Joseph Vogel, chairman of the board of Supervisors of Chaska, against the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway Company, the motion for a temporary injunction was heard before Judge McDonald, at Shakopee, on Monday last. No decision was made by the court, but the motion was taken under advisement, in order to enable the parties to procure a correct plat of the public highway and the railroad, where the former crosses the latter. The judge indicated that the injunction would be granted, unless the company should within the time to be fixed by order of the court, put the road in good condition. The crossing referred to, is the one on George Edels farm, on the Chaska and Waconia road.

Severe Accident.

Emil J. Walters, an employee in the flouring mill of the Messrs. Bierline's of this city, met with a severe accident last Monday evening, while engaged adjusting a belt. He was thrown, with great force, against some of the machinery, inflicting an ugly cut a couple of inches in length on his head, and rendering him senseless for a long time. It was a close call and Emil will be careful hereafter, not to get caught in a similar manner.

Putting Their Business in Order.

The members elect of the Minnesota Legislature are "figuratively speaking" putting "their house" in order, so as to be on hand at the opening of the Legislature Tuesday Jan. 4th. The session will be an important one and they are bound to be ready for "biz."

PERSONAL.—A. C. Lassen, A. Kahler, H. R. Deisner, Mike Zeller the brewer, and others from Waconia, were to be seen upon our streets last Saturday.

O. L. Baxter, Esq., of the city of Minneapolis, was in town on Saturday and Sunday.

Our town was crowded with people from the county Sunday, many being drawn hither by missionary services at the Catholic Church.

Streisguth has a large variety of choice silk handkerchiefs, ladies and Gents neckties, etc., suitable for Christmas presents.

NOTICE TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

No time is hereby given to anyone it may concern, that my wife Caroline May, has this day left my husband and went without just cause or provocation, and that I will pay no debts of her contracted before, and after, and that all persons who have claims against her or on her person, are to present them to me on or before the 1st day of January next.

PHILIP MOY.

Mr. A. O. Lindahl, the well known artist of St. Paul, who has made this county his home for the past few years, has finally located at Norwood, and has erected a new building suited to his purpose, and is now ready to take as fine photographs, tintypes, ambrotypes and views, as can be obtained in the state. We call attention to his advertisement which appears in another column.

READY TO TAKE MONEY.

The tax duplicates of the several towns of the county, for the year 1880, are now in the hands of the County Treasurer, and all can now step up to the "captains office" and settle their little bills with the county.

The 99 cent store, has the largest stock and the best display of toys and fancy goods.

For a fine single or heavy double harness, blankets, bells, brushes, or anything else in the harness line, call on John Letens, opposite this hotel, Chaska.

Joseph Frank of the city Drug Store has purchased the largest and best stock of fancy Holiday Goods ever brought to Chaska. His toilet sets, Vases and Albums are especially noticeable, while there is no end to toys. Call at the store to get an idea of his big stock.

MARRIED.

At Chaska, Monday, December 6th 1880 by Judge of Probate, Hon. J. A. Sargent, Nels Thompson, of Lindgreen, to Mrs. Julia A. Munter, of the same town.

Nils we extend our hearty congratulations and wish you and lady many years of wedded happiness.

New Store at Carver.

A. G. Anderson and Andrew Skog, have formed a co-partnership and entered the field as general dealers in merchandise, in our neighboring city of Carver. Both Mr. Anderson and Mr. Skog are well and favorably known throughout the county and we have no doubt they will make a success of this new business venture.

ATTENTION FARMERS!

Hearty Thanks.

Mr. Erren, Dille, DeToit, Schoenborn and the Wm. Brinkhaus estate, wish us to extend their hearty thanks to the H. & L. Company, and also to such of the citizens of Chaska, as extended a helping hand at the late fire, for their efficient efforts in confining the fire to Stockman's barn, and by thus preventing a serious conflagration.

Wm. Schilling.

Wm. Schilling, of Hutchinson, son of Christian Schilling, formerly of Waconia, and an old resident of this county, is lying dangerously sick at his residence, and his life is despaired of. His many friends in this county will regret to hear of his unfortunate condition.

A Dangerous Fire.

The frame barn of Henry Stockmann, situated on the alley in the rear and to the left of the Merchant's Hotel, was discovered to be on fire last Thursday evening, at about 7 o'clock, and although the Hook and Ladder Company promptly responded to the alarm, the inside of the barn was found to be one sheet of flame and its entire destruction but the question of a few moments. The adjoining buildings were, however, saved by the gallant efforts of our firemen and a goodly number of our citizens.

Three horses and one cow perished in the Stockman's barn, and the total loss is placed at $550, with no insurance as far as is known, and is pretty severe on Messrs. L. Moeschler, Mr. Arnd and Mr. Boeken, the owners of the personal property.

The fire is supposed to be the result of carelessness, to have been started by the cinders of a pipe and is a warning to others.

Teachers Meeting.

The teachers meeting will be held at Carver, Saturday Dec. 18th commencing promptly at 10 o'clock a.m. Teachers from the following districts will be expected to attend or send reasonable excuse. Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 6, 7, 21, 22, 23, 25, 30, 50, 64 and 66. Teachers from other districts are cordially invited to be present. Programme next week.

Mysterious Disappearance.
We copy the following from Saturdays
Pioneer-Press, relating to the mysterious disappearance of James Vandewalker, assistant engineer on the new Cut off, and well known to many of our citizens.

"The friends of James Vandewalker, assistant engineer on the Benton cut-off, and in charge of Rosser & Brackett's work, are very much alarmed, owing to his mysterious disappearance, on the evening of Nov. 29.
He was making headquarters at Huriburt's,
about one and a fourth miles north of Eden Prairie station, and at about 6 p. m. on the day in question, started from Huriburt's for the station to take the evening train for Minneapolis, for the purpose of making a report to Chief Engineer Rogers of the Milwaukee & St. Paul road. Since that time Mr.
Rogers has been unable to hear a word from him, and it is not known, even whether or not he took the train as he intended, but it is believed he did not, as he would have reported that the office immediately upon his arrival in the city, had he made the anticipated connection. Diligent inquiry has since been made, without discovering the slightest trail of the missing man. He had in his possession the books and papers relating to the work under his charge, which he was to present to Mr. Rogers, and also had upon his person several hundred dollars of his own private funds, and there are fears that he may have met with foul play.
In fact, his disappearance cannot be reasonably accounted for upon any other theory.
He has been with Mr. Rogers for three years past, and is esteemed both by him and the company as one of their most competent, trustworthy and efficient men.
They are thoroughly alarmed in reference to the missing man, and will redouble their efforts to find him at once. Vandewalker is described as a white, unassuming gentleman, of good habits, five feet ten or eleven inches in height, rather slender, with thin features and wearing a dark mustache. His trunk, containing his personal effects, save the considerable sum of money he carried upon his person, is at Huriburt's, and that he has voluntarily absented himself is not possible. Mr. Rogers is greatly troubled over the matter, and will not rest until the mystery of his disappearance is solved.

Minnesota Mounted Rangers.
Hon. Henry Pochler, has introduced a bill in Congress, giving bounties to soldiers who served in the First Minnesota Mounted Rangers, $100 for one years service and a proportionate amount for one year and six months service.

The Mounted Rangers, were raised in 1862 during the Indian war and served in Minnesota and Dakota, and this bill is but an act of justice to the members of that organization.

It is not Gen. Terry, after all, but Gen.
Howard, who has been appointed to succeed Gen. Schofield at West Point. We have a strong suspicion, however, that Gen. Terry was offered the place and that he declined it. We have no knowledge of the fact, except that it was obviously the best and most fitting appointment that could have been made; that the president and secretary of war were known to entertain that view, and that it would be just like Gen. Terry to decline it.—Pioneer.

Norwood Items.
Mr. James Slocum Jr. has begun to repair and refit his old elevator for the reception of wheat. Mr. S. can not sit tame down and see the wheat trade which he has been mainly instrumental in bringing to this town go to Benton, Carver and other places without an effort to reclaim it. Mr. S. deserves the earnest thanks of all citizens for his efforts in behalf of the trade of the village.

County Supt. Mix is out inspecting the schools of Waconia, Watertown and vicinity and will visit other sections as soon as the approval of "old Father Time" and the state of the weather will permit.

The recent thaw has raised hob with our roads and the pork trade. Wonder if we can't make arrangements with the "weather clerk" for more stable weather.

Mr. William Slocum, of Flint Michigan, has been visiting his brother James Slocum Jr., for a while past, and expresses himself as well pleased with our town and prospects. We are always glad to receive visits from residents of other States that we may compare their prosperity with our own.

"Santa Claus" seems to have made his headquarters in Norwood at the Drug Store of Messrs Mix and DuToit, where can be found the choicest and best selection of all kinds of Holiday goods to be found in the market, at prices which defy competition.

Mr. M. Simonitch's addition to his elevator is nearly completed and he will soon be able to receive wheat again in spite of the Rail Road blockade, and will be prepared to pay the highest market price.

We were pained to learn of the recent severe illness of Mrs. F. E. DuToit, but have since received news of her improvment, we hope she may soon recover her health entirely.

We notice several teams in town today
that have come from Glenwood, to haul freight which our Rail Road Company have allowed to stand on the side track
here for the past two weeks.

On Saturday last the spirited team of Jas. Slocum ran away causing considerable excitement for a while, a son of Michael Haag had a very narrow escape from severe injuries, but luckily got off with a few scratches and a good deal of fright.

Willie Brinkhaus made a flying visit to Chaska to see his mother during her recent illness, but is now back again at his post in the drug store.

Pork seems to be the only farm produce
that has a market value here at present,
it is worth now $4.00 per hundred.

The Rail Road Company with their usual disregard of the rights of other people have for a week past blockaded all the crossings in town, except one and we are momentarily looking for some passing train to close that. Gant some steps be taken so we may at least have our crossings open, even if the Co. do not choose to run trains!

Mr. O. A. Lindahl's gallery is now in full operation and he is prepared to furnish as good pictures as can be had at any point west of St. Paul or Minneapolis, and at bottom prices for cash. He has built a new gallery and has accommodations equalled by few.

Norwood Dec. 14th 1880.

Watertown Items.
Business still keeps up notwithstanding the cold and the deliveries of produce are large. And owing to the scarcity of cars in the east and its effect here in depressing prices, our merchants are not shipping their purchases and are awaiting a more favorable market. The displays of holiday goods are varied and a lively trade is anticipated.

The Monthly Fair was very largely attended both by buyers from the cities and by farmers and this sharp competition insured good prices.

Supt. Mix of Norwood paid us a visit
last week, and after inspecting the schools
called upon Representative-elect Halgren

will positively cure all old sores and ulcers of every name and description, no matter how many years standing, and how many other remedies have failed. It has been used for over fifty years and we defy the public to instance a single case where it has failed. There is no other remedy known that even claims to do what this salve actually does and that without ever failing. If you have been suffering for one or fifty years with an ulcer, and tried ten thousand other remedies, do not fail by any means to use Ulcerine Salve for it will surely cure you. Send for descriptive catalogue containing full directions and numerous sworn testimonials; one will be mailed to any address free of charge. Price 50 cts. per bottle.

Our people are agitating the question of a bridge over the Minnesota river at this place.
Lucien Warner, of St. Paul, was looking over his business interests in Chaska last week.
Wheat took a tumble last week, which has very much checked receipts, all now wait for a rise.
It is a fact that the 99 cent store, has the finest line of pipes, cigar holders, cigars and tobaccos in our city.
A large number of Benton people were in town on Sunday, in attendance at the funeral of George Kronschnable, senior.
Philip Henk has commenced taking orders for the celebrated "Wood Reaper" for next year.

Christmas trees of all kinds and sizes at Nix & Deit, Norwood, and Gottlieb Eder, Chaska. Call early and get your pick.
The "Carver Co. Bank," paid out over $15,000 in gold last week, but the farmers prefer the "greenbacks."
Our brick men are beginning to look around for wood for next season. A good deal will come from the Scott County side of the river this winter.
Rev. W. H. Oerter, of this place, has a beautiful "amaryllis" in full bloom, which is attracting many admirers. Call and see it.
Carpets, lounges and upholstered goods suitable for holiday presents, cheap for cash, at Burkhard Bros., Chaska.

At Chaska, Friday morning, December 10th 1880, George Kronschnable, aged 85 years.
Mr. Kronschnable, had been sick for some time and his death was not an unexpected event, considering his age, but it nevertheless caused much sorrow, as he was greatly respected. He settled in Chanhassen in the year 1855, and has been a continued resident of this county since that time, and he was regarded by everybody with the affection of a son to a parent.
He leaves several grown up sons and daughters who were present, with one exception, to pay their last sad respect to their departed parent.
The funeral took place from the Catholic Church, Sunday morning, and the remains were taken to Shakopee, followed by a large funeral cortege, and buried in the Catholic Cemetery, in that place, besides the remains of his wife, who died some years ago.

PAUPERISM.

It is rumored that one of the paupers maintained by this Town, and at present residing at the house of Jacob Van Muelken, will have to be provided for at some other place. We understand that Mr. Van Muelken refuses to take charge of the pauper any longer as it imposes upon him and his family a burden that he does not feel like bearing. The supervisors will have to look out for another place.

Perewing Machine

Needles of all kinds at the 99 cent store.

FAIR DAY.

The next Monthly Cattle Fair, will be held at Chaska, Friday, Dec. 24th, and we understand from the committee, that they have assurances of a large attendance of farmers and buyers, and that everything points to a large and successful fair. Remember the day, and be sure and attend.

BIRTHS.

On Thursday morning last Louis Moeschler was "setting up" cigars for everybody. The occasion for it was a boy who has come to stay at Louis' house. We acknowledge cigars.
"Doc, come down to my house, we are going to have a bowl 'there' is the way S. Fowler accented; Dr. Lewis at about four o'clock on Friday morning last. The Doctor went, and it's a girl. Cigars.

Fire Alarm.

On Friday evening last an alarm of fire was heard in our village. Luckily it proved to be only a chimney burning at the house of the late, George Kronschnable, and the fire was in a short time subdued.

Picture frames and chromos, of all kinds cheap for cash, at Burkhard Bros.

Settled at last.

The celebrated Watertown lawsuit between Peter Magnuson and A. P. Oberg, known as the Church lot lawsuit has finally come to an end by a mutual settlement between the parties. It has been in Court a number of years and has cost the contestants considerable outlay of cash, and a great deal of trouble.
National Hotel.
It will be seen by an announcement elsewhere, made that this well known hotel has been re-furnished and re-opened with No. 1 furniture and beds and is now rendered as comfortable as any hotel in the valley. The bar is also stocked with the best of native and imported liquors, wines and cigars and the genial proprietor will do his best to make his place the best and most comfortable in town. Call and sample his many "good things."

Peter Reiser, Jr., of Chanhassen, advertises his farm for sale.

He has a good place and will sell reasonable. See adv.
Waconia Flour Mill.
Michael Zahler, purchased Alex Miller's undivided one half interest in the Waconia Flour Mill last Monday, and the papers passing the title were duly placed on record. Mr. Zahler pays Mr. Miller $2,300 and assumes immediate possession, and will hereafter, run the mill in company with his partner Mr. Jacob Bierline.
Mr. Z. is one of the "live men" of Waconia, and we believe his connection with the mill, will prove a benefit to Waconia and surrounding country.
William Lempe, of this place has been employed as miller, and will be pleased to see his Chaska, Chanhassen and Laketown friends, guaranteeing them a good quality of flour.

Saloon keepers, of Carver County, if you want wine, whiskey or beer, glasses go to the 99 cent store in Chaska, they have the best stock and at the lowest prices.

Go to Streissguth's for your Christmas presents, large selection & cheap.

New Railroad Survey.

The engineers of the Minneapolis and St. Louis railroad are surveying an extension of their road, directly west from Lake Minnetonka. The surveyors were surveying in the vicinity of Victoria last week and are probably now west of Waconia. We understand the survey will be pushed on through New Auburn and to a junction with the Winona and St. Peter somewhere near St. Peter.
There is some prospect of this road being built the coming summer. As soon as we get hold of full particulars, we will publish them for the benefit of the public.

Wood! Wood!!

The highest market price will be paid for both hard and soft wood at Mrs. H. Youngs Store.

H. & L. Meeting.

Hook and Ladder No. 1, had a meeting last Saturday evening, which was very largely attended. A committee of three consisting of F. E. DuToit, Fred Henning and Fred Seeger, were appointed to consult with the city board in regard to the building of cisterns, the water supply, &c.

The new advertisement of the Waconia mill, Messrs. Zahler and Bierline proprietors, appears in this issue of the Herald.

The new firm will make things boom, as Mr. Zahler, possesses the necessary business ability, to push business right along. Success.
Pauperism.
It is rumored that one of the paupers maintained by this Town, and at present residing at the house of Jacob Van Muelken, will have to be provided for at some other place. We understand that Mr. Van Muelken refuses to take charge of the pauper any longer as it imposes upon him and his family a burden that he does not feel like bearing. The supervisors will have to look out for another place.

Perewing Machine

Needles of all kinds at the 99 cent store.

A DANGEROUS ACCIDENT.

Bernard Walter, loses a leg.
Bernard Walter, of Carver, met with a terrible accident at Shakopee, last Friday evening, whereby he loses his right limb above the knee.
It seems that he was sitting in a saloon opposite the depot in Shakopee waiting for the up train on the H. & D., and hearing a train coming, thinking it was his train, ran out of the saloon and across the Sioux City track, just in front of an incoming train running at full speed, which caught his right leg passing over it lengthwise from the foot to the knee smashing the bones to a pulp, and rendering immediate amputation necessary. Dr. Entrup assisted by Dr. Dunn, performed the operation and Mr. Walter is doing as well as could be expected, and it is thought he will recover.
Those who witnessed the accident say his escape, from immediate death, was miraculous, as he sprang right in front of the engine. Mr. Walter is a poor man, and this accident is a particularly painful one, not only to himself, but also to his family.

Mr. B. Mayres, of this place, received a deer from his son John Mayres, of Albany Stearns County, this week, which is a monster in size. This is the 13th deer that Mr. M. has killed. This season and testifies to his skill as a hunter, of more than ordinary average. We acknowledge a good size.

Go to the 99 cent store in Chaska, for your Christmas presents.

Elevators Full at Norwood.

We understand that the elevators at Norwood, are full, containing about 75,000 bushels of wheat, and that they cannot get cars to ship. This is materially injuring trade with the merchants at that place, and it is hoped that relief will soon be offered, in the shape of facilities for shipping.
Remember the Cattle Fair at Chaska, Friday, Dec. 24th, 1880.

PERSONAL.

During the last week we have received visits from the following gentlemen who are always welcome, and who we trust will often call again.
August Nimmman of Hollywood, Reinhold Zieglin of Hollywood, Father Braun of Benton, Matt Doyey of Hancock and John Hohn of Hancock.
Mike Zahler and Jacob Bierline, proprietors of the Waconia mill, were in town last Monday.
Capt. Geo. Houghton, and wife were in town Sunday.
A. P. Nord, of Dahlgreen, made us a call on Tuesday.
Dr. E. Small, of Excelsior, was in our city on Monday.
Charlie Blomquist and A. L. Bengtson, two prominent citizens of our neighboring village of Carver, were seen on our streets on Monday.
Supt. Mix, of Norwood was in town last week, on business.
Frank Gifford, the Scott County dairyman, was in town this week.
Henry Klauke, of Norwood, called in to see us on Tuesday.

This bill to pension Mexican soldiers has been made the special order for January 18
in the senate.

Justice Clifford grows worse. He is suffering from softening of the brain, and his condition is hopeless.

The Hastings Daily News learns from reliable sources that it has already cost the Milwaukee and St. Paul company $20,000 to clear the H. & D. of snow.

Passenger conductors on the Hastings & Dakota receive $33.33 per month, freight conductors, $70; train baggagemen, $50, and all brakemen $45.

Senator Blaine has taken a new departure.
He discards the stalwart course, and comes out in favor of increasing the number of the supreme court judges to thirteen, and takes the position that three of the new appointees shall be Democrats. The proposition is said to be regarded with favor in Washington.

Ex-Treasurer Ring, was tried for embedding wheat again at the Scott County District Court
this week and found guilty.
County Treasurer Herman Baumhager,
has also been indicted by the grand jury
for embezzling $600.
What a spectacle!

Miss Sara Bernhardt is credited with saying to a New York newspaper reporter,
"the only difference between me and a fine
of your American ladies is that I have four children and no husband, and some of them have four husbands and no children."

Both houses of the Vermont legislature
have enacted a law declaring every place
where liquor is sold or given away a public nuisance, prohibiting gambling dens and imposing heavy punishment on the keepers of either.

Mr. Peon, the new senator from Alabama, is a solid-looking citizen of about fifty-
three years old, is very short and thick
set. He wears a kind of tawny beard, which resembles a horse's mane, but he is level-headed on the Burnside educational bill which is evidence enough that his heart is in the right place in his anatomy.

Gen. McCook's bill to place Grant on the retired list as general of the army has been referred to a sub-committee that will probably allow it to sleep forever. The recent large investment of Grant in real estate and stocks has shown people generally that he is not at all in need of a pension, but so far from being poor he is able to live in affluence on the interest of his money.—GLOBE.

The Scott County Muddle.
We clip the following pithy sentences from last week's Scott County ADVOCATE, on the County Treasury Muddle.
"CAN we find an honest man in Scott county, for treasurer?"
"If Herman had only wrote D-e-p-t. before his name, he would have been all right;
you see? Ha, ha, ha, ho, ho!"—[Uncle John Edert.]

"We cannot pass upon the merits of the milk in the coco-nut until after the coco-nut has been cracked."—[Judge McDonald.]

THERE are hints thrown out that the Minnesota Legislature this winter will provide for an adjustment of the old railroad bonds, by taking them up and issuing new bonds for the old ones at a lower rate of interest. If this should prove true, our unsolicited advice to those members of the Legislature who may vote in favor of such re-adjustment without submitting it to a vote of the people, is that they prepare at once to remove to some other section of the country, as the climate will be too warm for them even in Minnesota.—LeSheur Seminel.

Correct, Mr. Sentinel. None of them would ever be heard of again in the Legislative Halls of Minnesota. But we don't apprehend anything of the kind.
Congress will adjourn to-day, until the 5th day of January 1881.

HARWOOD GARANISHES.
On Saturday last Messrs. F. W. Henning, and Fred Seger were in attendance upon the District Court at Minneapolis, having been called there to answer Garanhise Summons issued in the Harwood failure matter.
They were unable to return home until Sunday.

POLYGAMY is spreading in Idaho, and the governor of that territory calls upon Congress to put a stop to it before it obtains a firm foothold. The governor would demonstrate his fitness for the position he holds by putting the machinery of the courts in motion to the end that the evil
may be suppressed, rather than to appealing to Congress, which has already done
all in its power by passing adequate laws
for the suppression of the practice.—
GLOBE.

There was an exciting scene in the house of Representatives, last Tuesday, between Weaver of Iowa and Sparks of Illinois, growing out of a discussion on the Funding Bill. Both members were worked up to "fever heat" and called each other scound-rels and liars, and would have come to blows if not prevented by friends. It was a "disgraceful row" and both participants should be punished.

From the St. Paul Dispatch.
Mr. Malone, the new Senator from Virginia, was a poor Irish boy educated on a freelance ship at the military institute wherein Stonewall Jackson taught. He began his career by carrying a surveyor's chain on a railroad, and was known as a skilful general in the confederate army.
A correspondent of the Troy Times says Malone's division was the only one which appeared on the final scene at Appomattox Court House intact and unbroken in spirit and discipline.

Norwood Items.
Messrs. Stoum and Simonet have both finished the work on their temporary grain houses and are now taking in wheat again at an amazing rate. Trade has commenced to pick up and our streets
present somewhat the appearance of yore.
Trains are now running pretty regularly
for the H. & D. R. R. and we hope that the demoralization that has prevailed
for some time past, will not be repeated
this winter at least.

Messrs. Mix and DuToit have received a fine lot of Christmas trees and have on hand the best selections of toys, fancy goods and useful articles with which to fill them, that can be found in this market.

Patrick Donovan, living at the County line died very suddenly last week and was buried in Green Isle on Sunday last, an inquest was held on the body by the Coroner of McLeod Co., but we have not yet heard
the verdict of the jury.

Our new merchant, Mr. Chas. Hooper of Belle Plaine is doing a rushing business at the old stand of Suepe Meyers & Co.

Hon. H. R. Denny of Carter, was in town on Monday last as the representation of the Grand Lodge, A. F. & A. M. to install the newly elected officers of Humboldt Lodge of this place.

Norwood mottly fair on next Thursday,
don't you forget it!

There is to be a concert at the Singer
Hall in Young America village on the 22d
inst., doors open at 7 o'clock P. M.

We are pained to announce the death of Mrs. Speiker on Thursday last, she was buried at Bongards on Sunday.

Henry Fabel, has Fresh Oysters (selects)
for sale by pint, quart or gallon at 45 cts.
per quart. They are good, buy some.

Rumor has it that the M. and St. L. R.
R., contemplate the construction of a branch of their road from Excelsior thro'
this county touching at Waconia and crossing the H. & D. at some point in this vicinity to connect with the Winona & St.
Peter R. R., probably at New Ulm. Engineers are now out looking over the ground.

Mr. Geo. Mix of the firm of Mix & Du-Toit, is off on a business visit to St. Paul and Minneapolis to lay in an additional stock of Christmas goods etc. Their trade having far exceeded their expectations and the stock on hand proving inadequate to the demands.

Benton Items.
Business is brisk.
Mathias Ertz, is buying wheat and storing it in his new warehouse.
Conrad Pfeiffer, has bought a part of the Hochhausen estate. Dols & Jorresen, bought the store building and have moved
it to Cologne.

Mr. R. Toolen, has built a very large frame barn, on Kronschnabel's land, for the accommodation of teams coming to church on Sundays. Good.

Henry Witsack, has just finished a new frame wagon shop, for the accommodation of his increasing business. Peter Wilkens was the builder.

Kronschnabel Mill is running day and night, turning out an extra brand of "fancy flour" for eastern markets.

It is rumored that C. Kronschnabel will start a new furniture store in this village
in a short time.

Cologne Items.
Town lots are in good demand.
Business is booming in our village.
Paul Moerbeck, is building a large frame barn. Herman Schroeder is the builder.

Messrs. Dols & Jorresen, have moved their furniture store and stock of goods,
from Benton to this village, and Mr. Dols,
has also moved his dwelling house over.
Our village is rapidly building up, with a good class of buildings.

Christ Deedle, has just completed a large frame cooper shop, where he will turn out four barrels for the new mill.

Our new flour mill, is kept busy, running day and night and makes the very best of flour. Mr. Klostermann, is head miller.

Henry Jaspers, of Chaska, has purchased a corner lot in this place, and will erect a new building, early next spring and will occupy it for business purposes. Mr. Jas-pers, is a person of means and will be a valuable acquisition to our village.

Mr. Newcomb, of St. Paul was in town last week, looking over the ground with a view of building a wheat elevator. It will be a good thing for our farmers, as it will start competition for the wheat and probably raise prices.

Messrs. Meuwisen & Schiller, hardware
dealers and Messrs. Meuwisen and Moer-becker, dry goods dealers, are doing a big business this winter and keep large stock of goods on hand. Call and see them.

Laketown Snowflakes.
Christmas comes on Saturday this year.
It may be interesting to know that so many of our principal holidays this year
come on Saturday and Sunday.

Thanksgiving day was duly observed at Zoar Methodist Church. Rev. Mr. Sonderman preached a powerful sermon to a large congregation. The Sunday school teachers receive weekly instruction, on every Friday eve., from Pastor, meeting for that purpose at Parsonage.

John Hellriegel, of Chanhassen, sustained an ugly gash in his forehead, recently,
by accidentally falling down some steps in the rear part of the house. Wound made bad profusely.

That the "Text Book Law" has been sustained by a decided majority, is a source of much gratification to many of our people.

The books are largely used in all our Laketown schools and give much satisfaction.

"HELL in a fix," Fletcher is the "State Ring" candidate for speaker. Southern Minnesota, will smash him.

J. V. Daniels, of Rochester is looming up, as a candidate for speaker. Fletcher and Denny, had better unite forces and elect the latter.

Combinations will be made by members for places on good committees, and the one that can promise the most will be elected speaker.

Scott County has no County Treasurer, both found "guilty" of embezzlement. A fine state of affairs, Bro. Stevens?

It is said that Gens. Sherman, Sheridan and Grant are at "tiger heads" over the matter of the appointment of the Warren Court of inquiry. Who cares, anyhow?

KING KALAKAUA, of Hawaii, proposes to start soon upon a long journey through the United States and Europe. He intends to travel quietly with a small suite.

It is safe to say that if Fletcher is elected speaker, there won't be an investigation into the cause of the late fire and burning of the Insane Asylum.

Bluff Alex—Ramsey, is in the field for U. S. Senator in place of McMillan. Won't some of the members of the Legislature smile "all over" when they read the announcement.

The Devil's Lake Sioux in Dakota raised 1,300 bushels of grain and 3,300 bushels of potatoes this year. This is much better business than that of raising scalps, in which they were engaged in 1862.—PIONEER.

Mrs. Kate Chase Sprague has commenced suit for divorce from her husband ex-Governor Sprague of Rhode Island. She alleges adultery, cruel and inhuman treatment, &c. The Governor is reticent, but says that she ruined and beggared him by her extravagant habits. He will charge cohabitation with adultery.

JESSE GRANT, who went into the commission business in New York with his brother-in-law Honore, is bitten to the extent of eighteen thousand dollars by the last Chicago failure. This will be used, no doubt, as an additional argument in favor of curing for the old man at the public expense.

The population of Carver County, as returned by the census department, is 14,140. 7598, males and 6,542, females. The native born citizens number 8,161, and the foreign population is figured at 5,979. The white population number 14,138, and two colored persons.

The annual meeting of the Minnesota State Grange was held at Minneapolis last week. The following officers of the ensuing two years, were elected:

Master—Thos. T. Smith, St. Paul.
Overseer—J. F. Hall, Armstrong, Freeborn county.
Lecturer—Mrs. A. M. Thyng, Austin, Mower county.
Steward—D. R. Farnham, Rockford, Wright county.
Chaplain—Mrs. C. S. Schocheld, Bloomington, Hennepin county.

Treasurer—Lorenzo Hoyt, Ramsey county.
Secretary—W. H. Taylor, St. Paul.
Gate-keeper—Joseph D. Woll, Marine Mills, Washington county.
Ceres—Mrs. Geraldine Hall, Armstrong, Freeborn county.
Pomona—Mrs. Isabella L. Blaisdell, Minneapolis.
Flora—Mrs. Augusta J. Adams, Monticello, Wright county.
Lady Assistant Steward—Mrs. Hendrickson, Ramsey county.

New Years Ball.
I will give a grand Ball on New Year's evening, Dec. 31st, at my hall, all are invited to attend. Good music has been engaged.

JOHN LORFELD, Dahlgreen.

The Chicago Tribune gives the outside view of the new phase of the senatorial contest in this State in the following paragraph.

Alexander Ramsey, having been fully entered for the senatorial election in Minnesota, will be likely to carry off the prize. He is a strong man in many ways, and extremely popular. He has wealth, leisure and long experience in public life, and his character is unassailable. Many of the persons concerned in bringing about his defeat six years ago are said to be now sorry for their part in it, and to be anxious to make what atonement they may.

Senator McMillan has been a useful and honorable representative of the State, and if he should be retired it would not be for want of fidelity on his part, but because Mr. Ramsey is thought to have superior claims. There is no question of locality between the two, as both are residents of St. Paul.

Mr. McMillan was chief justice of the supreme court of the State when he was elected to succeed Mr. Ramsey, and it is possible he now contemplates a return to the bench, which might be arranged for him through Mr. Ramsey's influence.

The celebrations at Young America on Christmas night at the Singer Hall and the Lutheran Church were very pleasing and entertaining and were well attended.

The west end of the R. R. from Glencoe is again blocked and we understand no efforts has yet been made to clear it; what an immense advantage! the H. & D. R. R., is to the country through which it passes.

With best wishes to all for a "Happy New Year" I will close.

DIED. At their residence in the town of Camden, on the 24th day of December, Willie and Mary Leppel, children of Fritz Leppel, and aged respectively 6 years and 4 months, and 2 years and 8 months. That dread disease, diphtheria, carried both of these bright little children off on the same day, and their loving parents are almost distracted at the death of their two little darlings.

A Half Million Mortgage. An income mortgage, given by the Minneapolis and St. Louis Railway Company, to the Central Trust Company, of New York, for a Half Million Dollars, was placed on record, by Register Greiner, last week. The mortgage covers the income on all the lines of the Minneapolis road, subject however, to all former mortgages or trust deeds. Also for the building of spur tracks to various coal mines near said railroad.

Has several farms and a brick yard in Ohio.

Proceeding of Teachers Meeting. The Co. Supt. opened the meeting and read an article from the Educational Weekly, which was discussed clause by clause. The superintendent complained quite bitterly, that while the best teachers were present, those who could learn much, were conspicuous by their absence. The question of punishments were brought up and the sense of the meeting taken on the subject. Strange as it may seem, the fairer sex, advocated the use of the birch, while the men, including the Supt. (who evidently had some personal reminiscence on the subject) were not so clear on the matter.

DIED. At St. Paul, Friday morning, December 17th 1881, Barbara Schmidt, aged 73 years, after an illness of only two days. Mrs. Schmidt, settled in Laketown, with her husband, George Schmidt, in the year 1834, and lived on the farm with her son Christian Schmidt, until after the close of the war, when she and her husband moved to St. Paul, making her home with one of her married daughters.

I will grind for one tenth toll and guarantee good flour. Helvetia, Dec. 16th 1880. 3 w. PETER BEISANG.

Dahlgreen Items. There are rumors floating around here of another projected rail road. We judge from the general tone, that the next R. R. contractors who come here to work, will either have to bring their supplies, or their pocket books with them.

The German Agr Society, of Carver Co. met on the afternoon of the 19th inst., at the house of John Lorfeld, for the transaction of such business as might be brought before it. We have not heard the result.
